

The Salvation Army

Southernness Holiday Project

Do you know a family in need of a holiday?

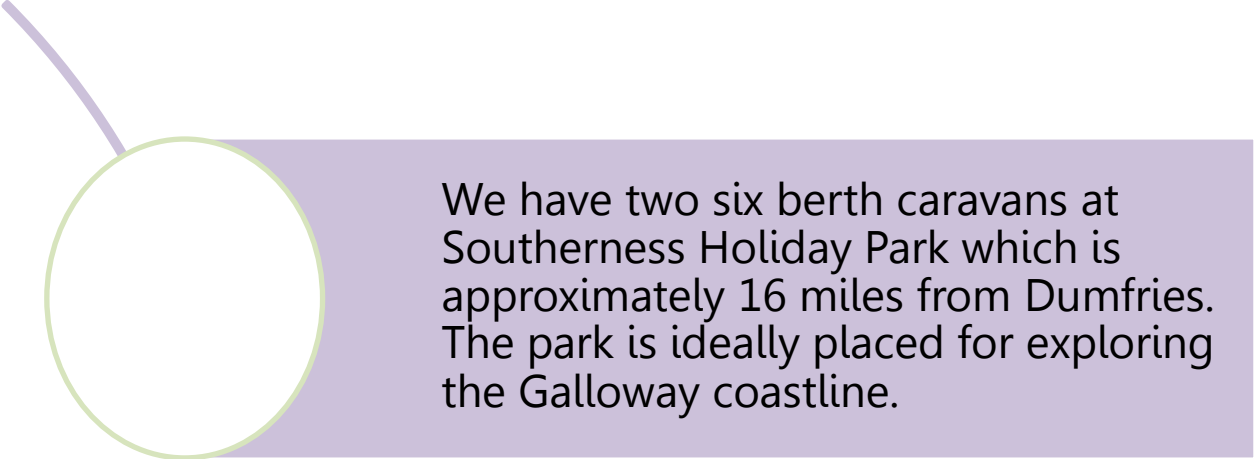

The Salvation Army is a Christian Church and Registered Charity that has long been associated with a compassionate work among families and communities, as a direct response to our commitment to God, and out of a desire to reflect His love for all people.

We are ever more conscious of the desperate need of so many in our society who are disadvantaged and who struggle daily simply to survive, and to provide what they can for those who rely upon the.

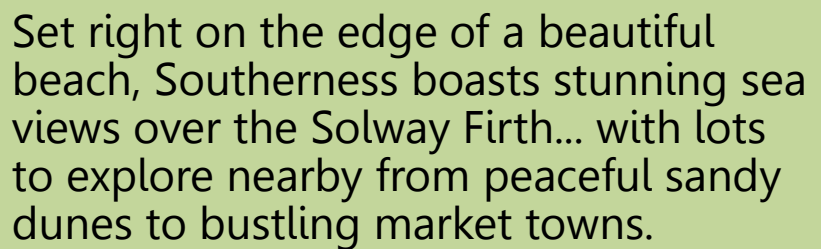

With this in mind, The Salvation Army have put together a holiday package designed to help those most in need of a break from their normal environment.

This brochure sets out the package, and outlines the process which referring agencies need to follow when recommending clients/families.
